

Photonics firm Optoscribe raises £2.8m

LIVINGSTON-based Optoscribe, which supplies glass-based integrated photonics components, has raised £2.8 million.

Archangel Investors, the Edinburgh-based business angel syndicate which led the funding round, said the money would enable Optoscribe to expand manufacturing capacity, hire “key engineering resource” and meet the demands of a growing customer base.

The funding round was also supported by Optoscribe’s existing investors, Par Equity, the Scottish Investment Bank and the photonics company’s management team, as well as Maven Capital Partners
